Did you know?

IT'S THE LAW

to carry out workstation risk assessments!

For employees working from home as well as in the office. (And anywhere in between)

60%

of employees who work from home said that their company's contribution to the purchase of ergonomic equipment was insufficient

Musculoskeletal disorders are the most common occupational illnesses

8.9 MILLION

working days were lost due to work-related musculoskeletal disorders, with 480,000 workers suffering from injuries in the UK (2019/20)

Introducing the Fellowes® 4 Zone Approach® to Workspace Wellbeing

Created to address the common issues relating to comfort and workspace design. This easy to follow guide is based on EN ISO 9241-5 and EU Directive 290/70, and breaks down the main aspects of the workstation into manageable sections, providing advice and tips on how each zone can be established ergonomically to create a healthier and happier workspace.

The Zones pinpoint health hazards and promote good posture across four key areas, for healthy working best-practice whether in a corporate office, home office or mobile office work environment.

- A few easy adjustments to your customer's workstation can make a huge difference to their daily routine.
- Increasing comfort, health, performance and productivity.

Help customers discover how they can prevent bad working habits and risks to ensure they stay productive and engaged in their work with the Fellowes 4 Zone Approach® and range of ergonomic workstation solutions.

How could you benefit from a Back or Foot Support?
